

05 • Compliance — read before writing a single ad

These are not stylistic preferences. MMFX operates in a regulated space (retail forex/CFD education and introducing-broker referral) and advertises on a platform that treats financial services as a restricted category. A careless line can get an ad rejected, an ad account restricted, or create a regulatory problem for the client.

When in doubt, ask Don. Never guess.

1. Platform risk — verify before you build

Forex/CFD-adjacent advertising sits under Meta's financial products and services policies. Depending on the market, complex financial products can require prior written permission or advertiser authorisation, and some jurisdictions restrict the category outright.

We are asking you, as the specialists, to confirm before campaign build:

1. Is the ad account in good standing and eligible to advertise financial education / trading products in each target market?
2. Does any target market require advertiser verification or written permission for this category?
3. Are there market-specific restrictions that rule a geo in or out?
4. What's the current policy position on trading education vs. financial advice — we are firmly education/tools, not advice, and creative must make that obvious.

Platform policy changes frequently. Please verify against current published policy rather than relying on this document.

If an ad is rejected or the account is flagged, tell Don immediately. In a restricted category, repeated rejections escalate fast.

2. ✗ Never say, imply, or show

Earnings and results — the hardest rule

- ✗ Any profit, income or return — guaranteed, typical, projected or implied
- ✗ "Make $X a day/week/month", "replace your salary", "passive income"

- ❌ Profit screenshots — account balances, P&L, broker statements, win streaks
- ❌ Win rates or accuracy claims ("80% accurate signals")
- ❌ Testimonials that reference money made
- ❌ "Risk-free", "guaranteed", "can't lose", "sure thing"
- ❌ Backtest or historical performance figures

Advice and outcome

- ❌ Anything that reads as financial advice or a personal recommendation
- ❌ "We'll make you profitable" / "turn your account around"
- ❌ Claiming any tool predicts the market
- ❌ Suggesting trading is easy, quick, or low-risk

Pressure and imagery

- ❌ Urgency that pushes someone to deposit money ("last chance", countdowning a broker deposit)
- ❌ Wealth-flex imagery — cars, watches, cash, private jets, mansions
- ❌ Framing the broker deposit as a payment to MMFX (it isn't — it's the member's own capital in their own account)
- ❌ Targeting or implying targeting of vulnerable or financially distressed people

3. ✅ Safe and true

- ✅ MMFX provides education, analysis and tools — not advice
- ✅ The 7-day trial is genuinely free, no card required
- ✅ The AI Trading Assistant is read-only — it can never trade or withdraw, and the password is never stored
- ✅ Specific, factual product claims: 19 lessons, 10 indicators, 4 eBooks, published every session
- ✅ Trading carries risk of loss — include risk messaging where required
- ✅ Outcomes depend entirely on the trader's own decisions
- ✅ Past performance never indicates future results

Risk disclosure page (link where appropriate): <https://marketmakersfx.net/legal/risk-disclosure>

4. Safe vs unsafe — rewrite table

✗ Unsafe	✓ Safe
"Stop losing money"	"See where your money is leaking"
"Make consistent profits"	"Build a consistent process"
"Our signals are 80% accurate"	"Trade ideas from the desk, with the reasoning"
"This indicator predicts reversals"	"This indicator highlights potential reversal zones"
"Turn your trading around"	"See what your account is actually doing"
"Trade like a pro and earn like one"	"Learn the system a professional actually uses"
"Free $500 account!"	"The desk is free — you just need a funded account to trade with"
"Join 10,000 profitable traders"	"Join traders learning the MM system"

The pattern: describe what the product does, never what the trader will earn.

5. Feature-specific cautions

Feature	Watch out for
Signals ⚠️	Our most sensitive surface. Never quote accuracy, win rate, pips or profit. Signals are trade ideas to evaluate , never advice or an income source.
Strategies	They're backtestable — but never publish backtest returns or imply future performance.
Indicators	Analysis tools that highlight conditions. They do not predict.
AI Trading Assistant	Lead with read-only / can't trade / password never stored . It analyses; it doesn't advise or execute.
Course	Teaches a method. It doesn't promise an outcome.
The IB offer	The deposit is the member's own capital in their own name — never "pay us". Disclose the broker relationship where required.

6. Using member content

- Any testimonial, review, screenshot or named member requires written consent — ask Don, don't source from Telegram or social
- No member's results may be presented as typical or expected
- No aggregate stats (member counts, success rates) without Don confirming the figure and that it's safe to publish

7. Sign-off

Every concept goes to Don for approval before it runs — copy and visual.

Fastest path to approval:

1. Check it against §2 (the never list)
2. Run it through the §4 rewrite table
3. Ask: does this promise an outcome, or describe a product? Only the second passes
4. Send for sign-off with the target market and the LP it points to